

Safety First

(March)

The Safety Department has hired an administrative assistant, Bolormaa, Kh, who will be assisting in all aspects of promoting safety at Wagner Asia. She has already made a trip to Leighton Khushuut Mine Site. While at Khushuut, I was invited to attend "Strive for Life" Leadership Safety Training course. It was very helpful to determine what safety requirements are needed for the mine site specific training.

Promoting safety is an ongoing job. Our technicians at Khushuut received compliments from the mine site management about how they had witnessed an improvement in the approach to safety. (Glen Cronan)

Congratulations to Tumen on receiving a safety award recognition certificate for his ongoing efforts to promote safety at WAE. His tireless efforts kept safety alive at WAE. Also, congratulations to our Service Department on receiving the monthly safety award for the best department for promoting safety on the job. They have had no lost time accidents this year. Ulziimaa received the 50,000 tugs and a fire safety alarm for her suggestion of washing and cleaning hands by soap and hand sanitizer before eating. Please use the hand sanitizer or wash your hands before eating to reduce chances of getting germs or spreading them.

Monthly Safety Award for Best Safe Department

The facilities department had a technician with a lost time accident eye injury he received while cutting tile. He was wearing his safety glasses but a small piece of tile came under his glasses and injured his eye. Not permanent damage was incurred.

For March and April, we are planning a course in First Aid to be taken by selected employees and fire safety training by our security team.

Please remember to wear your PPE and safety harnesses. Also wear ear protection to prevent hearing loss.

For the month of February, we lost 1473 man hours due to sickness.
